© 2026 SVMobi. All rights reserved.

Product features, commercial models, technical specifications, geographic availability, and operational arrangements may differ across markets and partners.

3. Legal Status of Website Information

The content published on www.svmobi.com is intended for general corporate, informational, and business development purposes.

Unless expressly stated otherwise, nothing on this Website constitutes:

- A legally binding commercial offer.
- A guarantee of revenue, traffic, profitability, or business performance.
- A commitment to provide specific products or services.
- A representation that a particular service is available in every jurisdiction.
- A contractual obligation between SVMobi and any Website visitor.

Commercial relationships, licensing arrangements, service-level commitments, revenue-sharing agreements, and other business obligations shall be governed exclusively by the relevant executed written agreements.

4. Intellectual Property and Proprietary Technology

All intellectual property rights associated with the Website and SVMobi's proprietary technology, products, software, designs, branding, interfaces, business materials, and related documentation are reserved by SVMobi or their respective lawful owners.

No part of this Website may be copied, reproduced, modified, republished, distributed, commercially exploited, or incorporated into another product without prior written authorisation, except as permitted by applicable law.

Access to this Website does not grant any licence to SVMobi's underlying software, source code, algorithms, advertising technology, gaming integrations, proprietary business processes, or other protected materials.

Third-party games, trademarks, logos, content, and technologies remain the property of their respective rights holders.

5. Telecommunications Operator and Business Partner Relationships

SVMobi works with telecommunications operators, technology providers, content suppliers, advertising partners, and other organisations in various international markets.

Any operator or partner name, logo, trademark, or reference appearing on the Website is intended to identify a relevant business relationship, integration, or commercial activity, where authorised.

Such references do not necessarily imply endorsement, sponsorship, exclusivity, or a continuing commercial relationship.

Unless expressly authorised, SVMobi does not represent itself as an agent or legal representative of any telecommunications operator or third-party business.

All partnerships remain subject to their respective contractual terms.

6. Advertising and Third-Party Content

Certain SVMobi products are supported by digital advertising and may display advertisements provided by independent advertising networks, exchanges, demand partners, or other third-party service providers.

The appearance of an advertisement does not necessarily constitute an endorsement or recommendation by SVMobi.

Third-party advertisers and service providers are responsible for their own products, services, representations, and compliance obligations, subject to applicable law and contractual arrangements.

SVMobi may implement reasonable content moderation, advertising quality, and compliance measures, but does not guarantee the accuracy or suitability of every third-party advertisement.

7. Gaming, Fantasy Sports, Contests and Rewards

SVMobi provides technology solutions supporting gaming, fantasy sports, contests, and rewards-based digital engagement.

Individual services may be subject to separate eligibility requirements, age restrictions, promotional rules, contest conditions, and applicable local regulations.

Where rewards or prizes are offered, their availability, eligibility, distribution, redemption, and fulfilment shall be governed by the applicable service-specific terms.

Rewards may be administered by SVMobi, telecommunications operators, or authorised third-party providers, depending on the service arrangement.

Nothing on the corporate Website guarantees that a user will receive a prize, reward, monetary benefit, or other entitlement.

Certain products may be restricted or unavailable in jurisdictions where their operation is prohibited or requires additional regulatory authorisation.

8. Technology Infrastructure and Service Availability

SVMobi's products may operate through cloud infrastructure, web-based technologies, telecommunications integrations, third-party content providers, and external advertising systems.

Service performance and availability may depend on factors including:

- Internet connectivity and telecommunications networks.
- Operator applications and technical integrations.
- Cloud hosting and infrastructure providers.
- Advertising network availability.
- Third-party software and content providers.
- Regulatory or geographic restrictions.
- Maintenance, updates, and cybersecurity requirements.

SVMobi endeavours to maintain commercially reasonable service standards but does not guarantee uninterrupted availability or specific performance outcomes through information published on this Website.

Any binding service-level obligations shall be determined by the applicable commercial agreement.

9. Data Protection and Privacy

SVMobi recognises the importance of privacy, data security, and responsible processing of information.

Personal information collected through the corporate Website is handled in accordance with our published Privacy Policy and applicable data protection laws.

In relation to operator-integrated digital products, SVMobi may act as an independent controller, joint controller, processor, or service provider, depending on the actual processing activity, contractual arrangement, and applicable law.

Certain platforms may operate without requiring direct customer registration or collection of conventional personally identifying information.

However, technical identifiers, network information, usage information, or pseudonymous identifiers may still constitute personal data under applicable legislation.

Specific data processing responsibilities and security obligations are determined by the relevant service arrangements and legal requirements.

10. Information Security and Responsible Use

SVMobi applies reasonable technical and organisational safeguards to protect its Website, technology infrastructure, and relevant information assets.

Unauthorised access, attempted security breaches, malicious interference, distribution of harmful software, or misuse of the Website is prohibited.

Security-related concerns may be reported through the Company's designated contact channels.

SVMobi reserves the right to investigate suspected misuse and take appropriate protective or legal action, subject to applicable law.

11. Third-Party Websites and External Links

The Website may contain references or links to external websites, applications, and third-party services.

These external resources operate independently and may be subject to different terms, privacy policies, and security practices.

SVMobi does not assume responsibility for third-party content or operations solely because a link appears on its Website.

Users should independently review applicable third-party policies before interacting with external services.

12. Disclaimer of Representations and Warranties

Although SVMobi makes reasonable efforts to provide accurate and relevant information, Website content may contain technical inaccuracies, outdated information, or omissions.

To the maximum extent permitted by applicable law, SVMobi makes no express or implied warranties concerning the completeness, accuracy, availability, reliability, or suitability of the Website or its information for any particular purpose.

Information concerning market presence, partnerships, product capabilities, performance, or commercial opportunities is subject to change and should not be treated as a contractual warranty.

Nothing in this Legal Notice excludes warranties or statutory protections that cannot lawfully be excluded.

13. Limitation of Liability

To the fullest extent permitted by applicable law, SVMobi, its relevant group entities, directors, officers, employees, and authorised representatives shall not be liable for indirect, incidental, special, consequential, or punitive losses arising from reliance on information published on the corporate Website or inability to access it.

This includes loss of business opportunities, anticipated profits, revenue, or data, where such exclusions are legally permissible.

These limitations do not exclude liability arising from fraud, wilful misconduct, or other circumstances where limitation or exclusion is prohibited by law.

Nothing in this Legal Notice modifies the liability allocation agreed in a separately executed commercial contract.

14. International Operations and Regulatory Compliance

SVMobi operates in multiple international markets and recognises that digital entertainment, advertising, privacy, telecommunications, and consumer protection requirements may vary by jurisdiction.

Product availability and implementation remain subject to applicable local laws, regulatory approvals, telecommunications operator requirements, and relevant contractual obligations.

Publication of information on this Website does not constitute a representation that every product is authorised or available in every country.

15. No Partnership or Agency Created

Accessing this Website, submitting a business enquiry, requesting a product demonstration, or engaging in preliminary commercial discussions does not establish a partnership, joint venture, agency, employment, franchise, or other legally binding relationship with SVMobi.

Such relationships arise only through appropriate written agreements or other legally recognised arrangements.

16. Confidentiality and Commercial Information

Visitors and prospective partners should avoid submitting confidential, proprietary, or commercially sensitive information through publicly accessible Website forms unless appropriate confidentiality arrangements are already in place.

Where confidential information is exchanged under an executed non-disclosure agreement or other binding arrangement, the relevant contractual provisions shall apply.

17. Applicable Law and Jurisdiction

This Legal Notice shall be interpreted in accordance with the laws of India, subject to mandatory legal protections and conflict-of-law requirements.

Any disputes arising directly from the use of this Website shall be subject to the competent courts of Gandhinagar, except where applicable law requires otherwise.

18. Amendments and Updates

SVMobi reserves the right to revise this Legal Notice to reflect changes in its business, technology, services, applicable regulations, or legal obligations.

The current version will be made available on the Website with its applicable effective date.
